Asked: Do I have Anemia????

First off, my period was almost two weeks late, and it has never been late before, then on the day it started, I fainted in school! My period are always really heavy and painful...

That was last week and since then I've been feeling so tired all the time, and I get loads of sleep every night but I just want to go back to bed!!!

My nails keep chipping and the skin around them keeps cracking also.

I am really really short of breath

I get really bad pains in my forehead almost like a migraine every day this lasts for hours.

I've also been getting some chest pain.

My temperature is always weird because I'm either really hot and sweaty, or either really really cold.

I'm also quite pale in complexion these days.

I'm 14 and a perfect weight for my height, I'm not vegetarian and I do eat really healthily and my parents don't believe me when I tell them I think I have it and they won't bring me for a blood test.... so is this anemia?!

Answers:

Answered:

Possibly, but you need to see your doctor. Even if it's not anaemia, the symptoms you describe are not normal for a healthy person. Your doctor will probably ask you to have a blood test, so whatever your parents think, you need to go to your doctor! If your parents care for you at all, they must recognise that.
